American Legion Auxiliary Donates to Emergency Services

MT43 News Staff Reporter

At a dinner Saturday members of the American Legion Post 42 Auxiliary donated $4,000 to Broadwater County emergency service organizations.

Auxiliary President Debbie Westfall presented $1,000 each to the county sheriff's office, city and rural fire department, the search and rescue unit and ambulance services.

"We were able to accumulate this money through our weekly bingo games so we decided to give back to the community," Westfall explained.

The 86-member Auxiliary group raised the money in just under 18 months by holding bingo at the American Legion building on Tuesdays. The third Tuesday of the month is always "Extravaganza" night featuring dinner and a chance to play for $21 at the door.

Westfall encouraged new members to join. She explained further: "That includes men or women. We have both as members of our group".

To qualify for membership in the auxiliary, a person must have a family member who has served or is serving in the military.

Representatives from emergency services organizations who accepted the awards were Sheriff Nick Rauser and Captain Mark Wood, Rural Fire Department Vivian Boaz; City Fire Department head Shawn Simon; Mike Stapp, Search and Rescue and Ambulance Cyrus Brandt.

Montana Governor Greg Gianforte visited the Townsend Mercantile Thursday as part of his 56-county tour. Broadwater County was number 55 on his list.

Townsend Resident Receives More Than Tulip Bulbs

Nancy Marks MT43 News Reporter

Sandy Vanover loves her flower garden. She especially enjoys planting tulip bulbs during the warm fall days. Last Tuesday her bulbs arrived. She laid the box from Brecks' Flowers on the counter while she fixed dinner. As she and her husband Ted were eating, they noticed a little black snake crawling out of one of the air holes in the box. Their cat Homer sniffed the snake but was spooked when it moved.

Ted said he was familiar with the rattlers and bull snakes who live in dens in Montana. He checked to see what kind of snakes live in Ohio, from where the box was mailed. He still could not identify it.

By Friday, the snake had died, but Vanovers would like to identify it if possible.

Ted said they jumped up, cov-

His focus with the tour is to highlight small businesses in Montana including honoring veterans who have started new businesses. According to Press Secretary Kaitlin Price, the governor spent two days traveling to eastern Montana in Plentywood, then to Ekalaka to visit the town's new Dahl Hospital.

The governor spoke at length with C Hangin' C owner Cassie Cooper, Little Creek Feed owners Caroline and Justin Nelson and J Rock Jewelry owner Jessica Hanson.

Governor Gianforte comments after his tour: "I am excited to see the entrepreneurship alive and well in Townsend, especially through these talented men and women. They create jobs and pay taxes. They are the backbone of Montana. There are 60,000 new businesses that registered last year. We see because of job creation and business growth, we can show wage growth has exceeded inflation this year. It is all part of the American dream."

the way from Holland and I want to breathe some North American Air."

Both Ted and Sandy were anxious to learn what kind of snake it is, and where it came from. They planned to call Allison Kosto, county extension agent, and to Brecks' Flowers to let them know they are mailing snakes.

Holloway Park to Have Skating Rink this Winter

Linda Kent MT43 News Staff Reporter

Area residents will have another way to skate at Holloway Park this winter, after Townsend's City Council approved installing a temporary ice rink, weather conditions permitting, at their October 15 meeting.

Hannah Rauser brought the proposal to the Council, explaining she had been working with city Director of Public Works Eric Crusch and others to both have the rink set up once temperatures drop below 10 degrees and to open and close the rink during the season.

Mayor Vicki Rauser told the council that Hannah Rauser had previously brought a similar proposal to the city, but that proposal had come after the weather had gotten too warm.

Council member Heather Healea raised concerns about safety, supervision, and city liability, given the inherent concerns around ice skates and fall risks.

City Attorney Peter Simon responded that state law places the liability for injury from similar sports on public property on those using the park.

The council approved the request unanimously.

Karsyn Sangray Broadwater High School Student Intern

year, and it paid off at the Home Cross Country Meet. With Nolan shaving 31 seconds off his old personal record (PR) he also shattered the old school record held by Jack Dolan. With the seven-year record broken, the sky's the limit for Nolan.

In preparation for the meet, Nolan did the warm-up run and got several pep talks by many of his supporters. "My biggest support would be either the coach, my uncle, or my uncle's dad. My uncle did cross country in high school so he gives me advice and cheers me on. My team helps. They always cheer me on. They kept telling me that I could get the record."

Thursday, October 17 was one of the coldest meets of the year in Townsend. To prepare for the run, many runners wore beanies or sweats. Some had sweatshirts or coats with them. Our school started with the Varsity girls' run. Kyla Meissner was able to crush the competition and placed first in the race with a time of 19:19. In fourth overall, freshman Elaine MacDonald was able to race with a time of 20:23. Our girls all pushed hard and many of them were able to get new PRs in just the last few meets. The eight girls that raced had records everywhere. Four of them were able to get new personal records-Arabella McDaniel, Elaine MacDonald, Kaelyn Sangray, Shalyn Sentinella. Fiona Nelson was able to get a season record, and Kyla Meissner tied with her PR from a meet earlier in the season.

Varsity runner Nolan Flynn kicks hard in the last 100 meters to set a new record time for BHS cross country. Karsyn Sangray, High School Intern Photo

Not only were the girls on fire, but the boys came out strong with seven out of the eight boys who raced getting new personal records- Alex Johnson, Gavin Green, Kaden Bruins, Keaton Cavasos, Nolan Flynn, Rylan Hoveland, and Samuel Flesch.

These personal records, and the hard work that came with them, prepares the team for State. State Cross Country is on Saturday, October 26 in Missoula. Our Bulldogs are having a busy week to physically and mentally prepare for it. The team members will do whatever they can to not only improve their times this weekend but also crush the remaining competition. The community knows how phenomenal the team is and we all can't wait to see what they bring home from the State Meet.

Nolan Flynn- Highlight of the Meet

MT43 News Sports Reporter

The highlight of the home cross-country meet was watching senior Nolan Flynn cross the finish line in 16:20, which is not only his best time but the fastest time ever run by a Broadwater Bulldog at 5K! A couple of weeks ago, Nolan was less than one second off the previous record at the Headwaters Invitational in Three Forks. Always a determined runner, Nolan took an additional 30 seconds off that time at his home meet in his last regular season race. Nolan has established the new school record and looks to challenge at the state meet in Missoula next week.

The record was previously held by Jack Dolan, son of our beloved coach Brooke Dolan. Jack set his record time in 2017, the first year cross-country ran the 5K distance, up from the previous 3 miles. He was a member of the 2016 state championship team along with Bryant Edgerton, Nathan Gallegos, Cole Bergstad, Wyatt Herick, Tommy Frost, and Louis Ingalls, current assistant coach. He was also a member of teams that placed 2nd in 2015 and 3rd in 2017 at state. He finished 26th, 9th, and 3rd as an individual runner at state during his tenure as a Broadwater Bulldog.

Cross Country: Rusty Raisland Invitational

MT43 News Sports Reporter

Indian Road Campground served as the home base for the start/finish line for the Rusty Raisland Invitational on Thursday, October 17th.

The course meandered along Centerville Road, edged beautifully in fall colors, before heading down Mill Road and up Canton Lane on the way back to the finish. High School hoofers looped the route for their 5K, while the middle schoolers did an out and back to Canton Lane for their 2-mile course.

The flat course on a crisp, windless day made for a very fast pace by the fifteen teams represented with most of your Bulldogs establishing their personal best times (PR) as a result. The Bulldogs all raced at the Varsity level for their hometown meet, which is traditionally their final cross-country race of the season, before heading to the state competition.

The Rusty Raisland Invitational is also a chance to honor the legacy of Rusty as a volunteer coach for the Broadwater Cross Country teams for many years alongside his wife, Teresa, who congratulates each runner at the finish line.

The Lady Bulldogs triumphed as a team with a total of 31 points. Kyla Meissner won the ladies' Varsity Race by tying her PR of 19:19, which she established a couple of weeks ago at the Headwaters Invitational in Three Forks. She was followed closely behind by Elaine MacDonald (20:23 PR) in 4th and Kaelyn Sangray (20:58 PR) in 6th. Arabella McDaniel (23:05 PR) and Shalyn Sentinella (25:20 PR) rounded out the scoring positions in the 19th and 28th, respectively. Logan Barkhurst (28:01) and Grace Kroeger (29:29) came in back-to-back in 32nd and 33rd. Fiona Nelson (31:57 SR) anchored the Lady Bulldogs in 35th. Way to finish the season ladies!

The men's team finished 2nd with 40 points behind Jefferson. Nolan Flynn was 2nd overall, but established a new school record with a time of 16:20, taking 30 seconds off his previous best! Kaden Bruins (18:09 PR) made the most of his senior meet by finishing in 11th, with Gavin Green (18:27) right behind him in 13th. Rylan Hoveland (19:30 PR) was in 19th and Luke Tullos (20:01 PR) in 22nd. Rounding out the Bulldogs were Samuel Flesch (21:44 PR) in 34th, Keaton Cavasos (21:55 PR) in 36th, and Alex Johnson (25:24 PR) in 41st.

Fellow senior Kaelyn Sangray establishes her fastest time of 20:58 during her last regular season meet as a Bulldog. MT43 News Sports Reporter Photo

Strong showing Bulldogs!

Eighty-seven middle schoolers representing nine teams completed the day with the boys and girls competing simultaneously. Clayton Rice (12:58) crossed the timing belt first for the Bulldogs in 9th. Everett Kirksey (17:24) was 27th and Jayden Flynn (19:35) was 31st. The girls' team was led by Kathryn Six (14:55) in 17th, followed by Courtney Webber (16:31) in 28th and Lydia Brakefield (18:09) in 36th. Up next was Madison Vogl (18:43) in 41st, Anna Busscher (19:33) in 43rd, and Erilyn Strait (20:58) in 47th. Great season middle schoolers!

These Bulldog runners all seem to be peaking at the right time to perform well at the MHSA All-class Cross-Country Championships this Saturday, October 26th in Missoula at the University of Montana Golf Course. Many of them have the potential to earn allstate honors and place well as teams.

Good luck Bulldogs!

good field position. This run didn't end in any points as the Bulldogs fumbled with the Herders recovering. Townsend kept their good special teams play going with a blocked punt that gave them good field position.

Sawyer Horne ran a touchdown in and with the extra point being good the scoring started with a 7-0 lead.

The Dawgs kept the offensive momentum going on their next possession with another rushing touchdown and a good extra point put the Dawgs up 14-0. Logan

Johnson then added a field goal to put the Bulldogs up 17-0. The first quarter ended with a Colt Barnard

The first Herders' possession of the second quarter was stopped when Colt Barnard didn't give up on a long pass by Sweet Grass and forced a fumble that the Bulldogs recovered. Tavyn Anderson capped off a long drive with a rushing touchdown with 6 minutes left in the second quarter. The extra point brought the score to 24-0. On the next Sweet Grass possession Deegan Mattson had an interception which led to a Tavyn Anderson 15-yard- passing touchdown to Sawyer Horne. That brought the score to 31-0 after the extra point. On the next Herder possession Hunter McCartney had an electric strip fumble recovery that he took down to the 2-yard line. He could smell the endzone but couldn't quite get there. Sawyer Horne added another rushing touchdown to his already great rushing day. The extra point being good made the score 38-0. The next Herder possession was stopped when Tavyn Anderson had an awesome interception return for a touchdown with the extra point the score was 45-0 to end the half.

The third quarter started with a running clock and after a slow offense start Bradan Martin broke loose for another Bulldog touchdown to make the score 52-0 at the end of the third quarter. Sweet Grass did manage a good drive during the third quarter and found the end of the third with the Herders in a good scoring position.

The fourth quarter started with a Herders touchdown but the Bulldog defense held up and managed to block the extra point to make the score 52-6. The Bulldog defense was still on their A-game when Deegan Mattson snagged another interception. The ensuing Bulldog offensive possession saw Braden Forest Martin as he skedaddled for a 55-yard rushing touchdown. Then Johnson added the extra point to bring the score to 59-6 which was the final score when the clock hit zero on a big Townsend win.

Next week the Bulldogs play the Jefferson Panthers over in Boulder. This game will be a major deciding factor in the Bulldogs' playoff hopes. Hopefully, the Bulldogs can keep the stellar play going, stay strong on defense and come out of Boulder with a big win. Hope to see you over there. GO DAWGS!!

November is Native American Heritage Month, the month that people of all cultures are encouraged to spend more time focusing on the traditions and history of our First Nations people. Sunday, November 3rd, starting at 11:00 am and ending at 2:00 pm, Broadwater County and surrounding areas are invited to do just that!

What began as a small event with a few local native artists and homemade frybread in 2022, is anticipated even to outgrow last year's event!

The first year was held at the old Birds Nest store (now Hwy 12 Marketplace). Local artist, Laura Stevenson of Big Sky Angels, was gifted by her parents, Juanita Bray and John Larsen, a second print of the book Little Braids Quest in the West. The interactive History Lesson was written by her brother Don Larsen and illustrated by Laura. She wanted to introduce the book locally.

Laura's daughter, Sarah Tallwhiteman, had been on her own quest to try and find a local Native American community. She wanted to support her daughters', Tia and Kianna, and help spark an interest for them in learning their culture and heritage. Laura and Sarah had the idea to invite local Native American people to display their art and bring attention to their culture.

The response from the community was very positive. Tee Jay Hemsworth brought her art and wore regalia that she spoke about, teaching people symbolisms and about dancing prayers. Amy Lee also had a booth where she displayed handmade rattlesnake jewelry and more. She taught through her book of pictures which documented her harvest of the materials for the craft. Takoda Oldham helped save the day after Last year took place at American Legion Post 42, where it was supported by the Helena Indian Alliance and Last Chance Community Pow Wow Committee. We had three vendor tables. Katelyn Griepp with Helena Indian Alliance, Rachael Brugg with Reading Leaves Bookstore and Laura with Big Sky Angels. The community enjoyed Last Chance Community Pow Wow Committee's world-famous frybread tacos (made fresh-to-order in the kitchen), live stories from Elders Louise Fischer and Daniel Pocha, and the Magpie Singers and Dancers who drummed and danced in regalia. People from all backgrounds were given an opportunity to sit and/or sing at the drum and participate in a couple of round dances; a first for many.

The local event was started in honor of Tia and Kianna. They have become active members of the Magpie Singers and Dancers group who have taken them under wing. Linda Youpee created jingle regalia so Tia could dance her first powwow at Last Chance Community Pow Wow this year. Magpie members at the drum have encouraged Kianna to sit and sing at the drum and she was able to do so at this powwow as well. Both girls will be part of the drumming and dancing at the Townsend event!

This year we will be holding the event at Townsend Schools, inside the North Pine Entrance. We hope to interest other local families to engage in this free family-friendly gathering. The community is invited to join us in eating delicious frybread tacos, learning stories from Elders Louise and Daniel, dancing and drum demonstrations by the Magpie Singers and more.

For more information, email NativeAmericanHeritage.Townsend@gmail.com.

The Vendor Sign-up Deadline is Wednesday, October 30, so please email us as soon as possible if you are interested in free vendor space!

See you there!

City of Townsend Request for Proposals for the Montana Department of Commerce Reinvestment Program

The City of Townsend is requesting proposals from qualified professional consultants to complete a Comprehensive Affordable Housing Study and Analysis Report which will be incorporated to the City's Growth Policy with respect to increasing the affordable housing supply, with a special emphasis on the following criteria: attainable workforce housing; a plan to obtain funding for affordable housing solutions through both public and private resources; and a plan to work with private and non-profit housing developers to provide the type of housing that The City of Townsend needs for healthy growth and sustainability.

In addition to providing much needed data for attainable and affordable housing, one goal of the comprehensive housing study and analysis will provide the required data for SB 382 compliance (the newly enacted Montana Land Use and Planning Act), bringing the City of Townsend closer to meeting SB 382 requirements.

This request for proposals is subject to the award of supporting funds. The City of Townsend has applied to the Montana Department of Commerce under the State-funded Montana Community Reinvestment Plan Act, HB 819, to develop an Affordable Housing Study incorporated into the City's Growth Policy.

Copies of the detailed Request for Proposals (RFP), including a description of the services to be provided by respondents, the minimum content of responses, and the factors to be used to evaluate the responses, can be obtained by contacting Kari Williams at the City of Townsend by calling (406)266-3911 or by emailing kari@townsendmontana.net.

Responses to this RFP will be received by the City of Townsend at City Hall, 110 Broadway, Townsend, Montana 59644 until 1:00 p.m. on November 22, 2024.

A BOLD RETURN TO GIVING A DAMN

George Washington said the following: "Agriculture is the most healthful, most useful and most noble employment of man." National Farmer's Day was October 12th.....a day to spotlight all those who work in acres, not in hours. Broadwater County is a prolific farming community, rich in alfalfa, seed potatoes, grains/seeds and extremely devoted farmers.

Will Harris, world-renowned steward of the land, owner of White Oak Pastures in Georgia and accomplished author has been advocating for agriculture and the importance thereof for decades. An excerpt from his book, A Bold Return to Giving a Damn:

"I never used to tell the story of White Oaks much. Not for lack of pride - I am inordinately proud of our heritage here. But I was raised cowboy, and cowboys don't gush about themselves to other people. I figured that since I don't give a damn about most of their stories, why would they give a damn about mine? Yet that has been changing as more people realize that the food system is not as fine as they thought and that almost all their food comes from factories - the process plants that produce the final products and the animal factories and the "crop factories" of massive monoculture farms that raise the raw materials.

It's human nature to be attracted to authenticity, and it gives people an urge to learn more about the opposite: the truly independent American family farm. Maybe the interest has been stoked by the fact that farms like this, and farmers like me, are, quite literally, a rare breed.

At the start of the 20th century, farmers comprised 41% of the American workforce. Today, farmers make up about one percent, and I'd estimate that less than one percent of this one percent are working outside the factory system entirely. Even a smaller percentage have been farming the same land for over a century and a half, and probably an even smaller percentage of them are as outspoken as I am about how it got to be this way. Rarity breeds curiosity.

I, like many others, am extremely proud of my agricultural heritage. Seeing the next generation embrace this lifestyle with such vim and vigor touches my heart in a most powerful way! Furthermore, I commend those generational family farms who have forged an ironclad path to ensuring their legacy lives on in a solid, wholesome and sustainable fashion. I commend you for sharing your story. You are a rare breed!

Perhaps we can all agree how vitally important it is to "Know Your Farmer. Know Your Food." Ya reckon?

For the Love of Agriculture,

Denise Thompson

Know The Truth About Rank Choice Voting Before You Vote

CI-126 amends the Montana Constitution to provide that the election result. This occurs when a voter overvotes, undervotes, top four finishers in the Primary Election will advance to the or only ranks candidates that are no longer in contention on their General Election, regardless of party or no party affiliation. ballot. Ballot exhaustion leaves voters and voices uncounted Anyone can run as a Democrat or a Republican OR candidates – ballots are literally thrown in the trash because the RCV can choose not to have a party affiliation at all. Voters must conduct exhaustive research on an unknown and unlimited number of candidates in multiple races.

CI-127 amends the Montana Constitution to provide that a candidate MUST win MORE THAN 50% of the vote. Sup porters claim that CI-127 would ensure a 'majority' winner by requiring the winning candidate to receive more than 50% of the vote. However, this already happens in most Montana elections. In our current system, there are usually only two candidates participating, thus resulting in a majority. They claim to fix a problem that doesn't exist.

process renders their votes meaningless. Minority and elderly voters are more likely to have their votes thrown out due to confusion and complexity. It is easier to make a mistake with a more complicated ballot.

Our Vehicles, Alive or Not?

That sounds strange, doesn't it? A vehicle: our "cars, trucks, RIGS" or anything we drive must be just inanimate objects, right? Maybe, we human beings: need fuel, need air, fluids flowing through our bodies. AND the big one we need a SPARK to start our lives.

A vehicle needs fuel (that costs more every day) needs air, and fluids flowing throughout their bodies. They also need that spark to start and run. Humans do not have an organ in us for emotions. (Never mind what the songs say about the heart) IF any of you have a rig with 2 or more wheels tell me you do not either beg, talk nice, or threaten them to start. Yeah, I thought not, we all do it, especially on a cold morning trying to get the rig to start. We all do it, I love hearing someone in an office threatening a copy machine or computer. I had an experience one-time, years ago when I was working as a track vehicle mechanic, I had just taken over a company of M113-A3 armored personnel carriers (the upgrades where there was a steering wheel instead of stick laterals.) I will never forget this track, it was designated MC05RA. This vehicle has sat for over 7 years because the mechanic/team leader was LAZY! The track needed a spur gear, inside housing that ran the cooling pump. A simple part, when I took over that company, I looked into WHY this vehicle sat for 7 years! The people in supply yelled in very naughty language about a lazy so-and-so who never came to pick up the part needed, that had been in stock for 5 years. Suffice it to say I got the part, moved RA into my bay and tore it down. I had to clean out over 7 years of grease, and muck to get to the engine. After changing all the fluids, installing the part, I started up the track. I then, as we were supposed to do, took it out on a road test...this vehicle "Frolicked". It was like a teenager, I could almost hear it screaming, "I'M FREE!" think all these mechanical devices are dead? Nope, this track had sat for over 7 years rotting away. It was now made useful again. (I actually had to use the brakes to slow it down, as it blew right past the governor on the engine.)

Together, CI-126 and CI-127 amount to a radical, expensive and unnecessary experiment that is guaranteed to make political campaigns longer, more confusing, more expensive, and more dependent on special-interest money. This experiment is referred to as Rank Choice Voting (RCV) or Top 4 Vote.

When Montanans are informed about RCV, a majority of Montanans (more than 60%) oppose CI-126 and CI-127, including Independents, Democrats, and Republicans.

These constitutional initiatives are a back-door attempt to replace our traditional election system with RCV. Currently, RCV is illegal in Montana. In 2023, the Montana Legislature passed HB598 banning RCV in Montana. CI-126 and CI-127 subvert the rule of law in Montana and is destructive to Montana's election process.

So, if RCV is banned in Montana, why are we talking about it? Because out-of-state dark money groups are pouring MIL-LIONS OF DOLLARS into Montana to put it on the ballot in November. Who is behind RCV?

Montanans for Election Reform (MFER) is the group pushing RCV. MFER is funded and supported by rich, out-of-state, far-left progressive elites and PACs. As of the most recent reporting, MFER has received $4.2 million from out-of-state donors, including George Soros foundations. This money has been spent on advertising, signature-gathering, and propaganda.

In the scenario contemplated with CI-126 and CI-127, 4 candidates would compete in the General Election, making it most likely that no candidate would get a majority of votes. In practice, RCV results in an artificial majority. The winner's majority is only a majority of the voters remaining in a final round, not a majority of all the voters who actually cast a vote.

If CI-126 and CI-127 both pass, there will be an almost guaranteed runoff election leading to a lengthened election season into December because twice as many candidates will qualify for the General Election OR it will require a RCV scheme to get to a majority.

RCV is the ultimate GOAL of the supporters of CI-126 and CI-127. RCV undermines the 'One Person – One Vote' system. Rather than just voting for one candidate, voters are forced to vote for all candidates to ensure their ballots are counted and not thrown out. This includes voting for candidates with whom a voter fundamentally disagrees or lacks sufficient information about AND voters have to rank their votes. Voters have to vote for all candidates in each race rather than one person. The votes of the candidates who are eliminated at the bottom must be reassigned until they get someone who has 50% of the votes.

One of the greatest problems with RCV is "ballot exhaustion" – when a ballot is cast but does not count toward the end ism. It actually has the opposite effect. In RCV, candidates are not bound by party platforms. In addition, there will be more candidates. When there are more candidates, each running on his/her own personal platform, elections and campaigns will be less about issues and more about personality, resulting in MORE personal attacks, NOT LESS. Candidates will be incentivized to do whatever it takes to gain the most voter recognition, including being bombastic, hyperbolic, and anything other than civil towards his/her competition. Montana politics will become increasingly negative and more polarizing.

Supporters appeal to independent voters by claiming that RCV is an ideal system for them because they can vote for any candidate as their first preference. They aren't limited to vote for a candidate of a particular party. In reality, RCV is a scheme that makes it harder for independent candidates to win and undermines conservative candidates.

Alaska passed RCV in 2020. We can learn lessons from Alaska

In the 2020 Alaska US Senate race, there were 5 third-party candidates. After RCV was implemented, there were 0 (zero) third-party candidates in the 2022 US Senate race.

RCV reduces transparency in elections, threatens public trust in the democratic process, and makes it more difficult and expensive to conduct elections. Ballots are more expensive to print because RCV requires multi-page ballots. Alaska spent $534,000 to purchase ballot tabulation equipment. In order to implement RCV, they needed to purchase 137 ballot tabulators. RCV does not allow for hand-counting ballots. All ballots must be scanned and counted by a tabulator for the tabulation grid to be captured. Alaska was the last state in the country to report election results.

RCV reduces voter turnout. In 2022, Alaska experienced a 44% voter turnout, lower than any election in Alaska since 1976 which is as far back as the results go.

RCV requires costly public education campaigns because implementing a major change in elections, especially ones that are more complicated and difficult to understand for the average voter, like RCV, requires voters be educated on how the new system works. Alaska budgeted $150,000 for voter education on RCV. They spent $3.1 million on just voter education.

Ballot Exhaustion is real. In Alaska, more than 15,000 votes were thrown out in 2022.

In Alaska, the person with the most votes didn't win. If you come in third, you win. 60% of Alaskan voters voted for a Republican, but thanks to a convoluted process and ballot exhaustion - which disenfranchises voters - a Democrat won.

So, now what for Alaska? They are in the process of repealing RCV. It is on their ballot in 2024. The same dark money groups have spent $12M to keep RCV in Alaska.

Let's learn from Alaska. Vote NO on CI-126 and CI-127. Debbie Churchill, Retired Attorney, RNC National Committeewoman, MTGOP Grassroots Director

Weed of the Month: Poverty Sumpweed

Allison Kosto MSU Broadwater County Extension Agent

Although a native plant, M poverty sumpweed is a unique specimen MONTANA with a foul smell that can be an issue in certain situations. I've received a few EXTENSION reports of issues with poverty sumpweed over the years in Broadwater County. It is also sometimes called Povertyweed.

Description & Habitat

Native to western North America, poverty sumpweed is found throughout Montana. It can be found in salt marshes, alkali plains, roadsides, pastures, distributed areas and native rangeland.

Poverty sumpweed is a perennial plant (life cycle of more than two years). It can grow up to two feet tall and is typically found in colonies due to its rhizomatous root system. Its oblong leaves are grayish-green and covered in short bristly hairs. It produces small yellow flowers that can be difficult to see. However, one of the most distinguishing characteristics of poverty sumpweed is that it has a distinctive foul order. People with sensitive skin may react to touching the plant.

Most of the time poverty sumpweed can co-exist without a problem with native or desired forage. However, it tends to be an 'increaser" which is a plant whose population increases during a disturbance. It also tends to increase under heavy grazing pressure because livestock avoid it and will target more palatable plants. Some research has shown it has toxic qualities when ingested by livestock. Like other weeds, in the right conditions, it can displace native and desired vegetation and decrease forage production and plant diversity.

Management

Little research has been done on poverty sumpweed. Avoiding disturbance or overgrazing is often effective in preventing issues with the plant. Typically, full control is not necessary. Reducing the population in high-density sites can allow the desired species to come back but still leave a few plants to benefit biodiversity. If control is necessary, it can be difficult due to its intensive root system. Hand pulling is difficult and can cause reactions in some people so make sure to wear gloves. Mowing is generally not effective as the plants will regrow from the roots but may reduce plant vigor if done repeatedly. Herbicides can be effective. Most commonly used chemicals include 2,4-D, Banvel, Tordon (restricted use) and Weedmaster. A mix of herbicides may provide maximum control. Always read and follow the entire label when applying herbicide. Common chemical names are used for clarity but does not imply endorsement of a product or brand.

Homemade Jerky- Just One More Reason to Fill the Freezer

Eileen Clarke Rifles and Recipes

Before we start on this jerky recipe, there are two important things to talk about. The first is the cayenne pepper. I used fresh cayenne. Cayenne loses potency over time, and with exposure to heat and light. So if you want the same results, use fresh.

Second, mix the brown sugar, cayenne, liquid smoke and salt together (before adding it to the meat) with the back of a spoon or spatula, and mixing the cayenne pepper and liquid smoke well into the mixture. You don't want a little lump of cayenne--or smoke--lurking in a stick of jerky. This combo will roll around on your tongue, the roof of your mouth, and cheeks, hitting all the bases, rather than sending you screaming for water.

How 'bout that temperature? 160°F. Friends who've cooked jerky at lower temps all day long report they get much tastier jerky at this higher temperature for a shorter time. I've always found that to be true, plus you don't have to babysit it so long.

Finally, this combination of spices will work for any big game animal, including bear, even if their flavor is just a bit gamy. Cayenne and liquid smoke may not cure everything, but they hide a lot.

Sweet & Spicy Smoke Jerky

For 1 pound of ground meat

Ingredients

- 1 pound ground red meat
- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 2 teaspoons cayenne pepper
- 2 teaspoons Liquid Smoke
- 2 teaspoons salt

Preparation

Mix the ingredients together well, and place in a tightly sealed plastic bag or storage container. Let it sit overnight in the refrigerator to let the flavor develop. To taste test: cook a 1-inch ball of mix for 15-20 seconds in the microwave. (A coffee cup is the perfect holder, as the sides are high enough to contain the splatters--and mess.)

Cooking

1. Shape the jerky with a jerky gun and arrange the jerky strips on grids over foil-lined drip pans. Preheat the oven to 160°F* and cook about 3 hours. Since bear has more fat than other big game, especially this time of year, you may see drops of fat rise to the top of the jerky when cooking. You can wipe it off with paper towels, or just leave it there. Good bear fat is good eating. (Just ask the people who use it for pie crusts.) It is not a sign that the jerky is not fully cooked. To gauge doneness, see step 2.

2. Before turning off the oven, check that the jerky is done. It should be moist enough to not crack when you bend it but also dry enough to easily tear off a bite, and there's no pink in the middle.

3. Let the jerky cool and air dry in the turned-off oven or on the counter, for 6-8 hours, then store in resealable plastic bags. You can store your jerky in the fridge for 2-3 weeks, or in the freezer up to 3 months.

*Before you start, check your oven temperature. Oven thermometers are cheap and make it easier to time anything cooked in the oven.

Also, some newer ovens don't go as low as 160F on the 'regular' oven settings but will if you use the 'keep warm' setting.

On our Day trip from Townsend to the Boulder Hot Springs we decided to continue on Highway 69 toward White Hall and make a complete circle coming back home. In that beautiful valley, we came upon a pretty old white church sitting back in a pasture about 15 miles southeast of Boulder. The sign said it was St John the Evangelist Catholic Church, so we stopped to get a closer look and some pictures. There is a very well-kept cemetery behind the church with old headstones and a few newer ones. The thing that caught my eye is the white ground around the church. It appears they have spread white quartz rock all around the grounds (and no weeds!). There is a marker that says ". This church remains one of the oldest in Montana where the original structure remains standing. Given in loving memory of Frank and Mary Ellen Carley by their children." The sign on the highway tells us it was built in 1880-1881. We wondered if the church still held services, as it looks very well maintained.

When we got home, I checked on the internet and found a few pictures of the church but not much more information than was on the sign and marker at the church. This statement came from www.ultimatemontana.com "St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church of North Boulder Valley was hand-built in 1880-1881 by the early settlers of this valley to practice a simple faith they learned as children in Ireland"

We are so blessed here in Montana to have forefathers who built sturdy structures and others who preserved these historic buildings so that we can enjoy them today.

Please plan on attending a talk about Ukraine by Marketa Vorel "A Journey Through a War Zone" on October 30 at 6 pm in the Community Room in the Community Library building. Marketa was born and raised in Czechoslovakia as a third-generation dissident against Russian oppression. At age 14, Marketa escaped the communist regime with her family, spent nine months in a refugee camp and eventually received asylum in the US. She learned to speak English and got her law degree from the University of Washington. As a law student, she volunteered for the Swiss Banks Litigation project, where she translated and analyzed hundreds of firsthand, native-language accounts of Holocaust survivors. Peering into the horror from 60 years ago, she comforted herself by thinking it could never happen again.

When Russia launched its full-scale invasion of Ukraine, Marketa's childhood nightmares of Russian tanks rolling through the streets of a peaceful country came to life. When history came knocking again during her lifetime, sitting on the sidelines was not an option.

Marketa traveled to Ukraine in early 2023, spending two months working inside the Ukraine volunteer network. When she returned to the US, she founded the Sunflower F.U.N.D. and started supporting Ukrainian volunteer organizations. She returned to Ukraine in early 2024 to assess the needs of the funds' Ukrainian partners, to "follow the money" and to deliver additional support. Since its founding last May, the fund has raised over $200,000, mainly from grassroots efforts in Marketa's local community.

While Ukraine does not dominate the headlines, the need for assistance has never been greater. In its third year, the war has taken an immense toll on the Ukrainian people. The death toll of civilians and soldiers keeps rising, 1/3 of Ukraine's power grid is destroyed and they face a brutal winter ahead. Ukrainians are heroes not by choice but by necessity. They have the spirit and bravery to win the war, but they need more help.

Please come and hear what Marketa has seen and done. The talk is sponsored by John Ingalls and Patrick Plantenberg.

Precision Business Resources Celebrates Two-year Anniversary

MT43 News Staff Reporter

Precision Business Resources is celebrating its second anniversary in Townsend this month by offering more services and openings for new clients.

Anna Glueckert, owner and manager of the business, opened her first office in Helena six years ago. She has seven employees who cover the full scope of small business needs including human resources, bookkeeping, payroll, tax planning and tax preparation.

Glueckert has learned in her two years in Townsend that there is a huge need for tax preparation in the area, "so we have ramped up our services to take new clients," she said.

Her office offers what she refers to as "white glove service" for her clients. This exceptional service goes above and beyond "just filing tax returns" she explains:

We can review our clients' life, health and other insurance needs. We do both small business needs as well as individual tax preparation. We have an open-door policy which means our clients can walk in any time to ask questions or get updates on their tax situation. "

Our office is a properly accredited business service provider. "We are prepared to go through a federal or state audit with the client, should that occur. We have a strong team of accountants and managers who are available to professionally assist in those cases," she said.

Glueckert encourages clients to be ahead of filing their taxes by setting them up with a tax packet which they pick up at the office in December, fill out and return to the office by February. "That way we can make sure we make the April 15 deadline for filing," she said.

Glueckert encourages clients to make an appointment sometime prior to December so she can help them figure out what their tax impact will be for the year.

Her office staff is equipped to help with annual state filings and can help with compliance issues such as acting as a third-party secretary to annual board meeting minutes.

As a self-made businesswoman, Glueckert built her business after working 16 years in human resources for a large corporation. She traveled extensively to satellite offices, learning the assets and pitfalls of running a business. She does not have a college degree, Instead, she started right out of high school with onthe-job training. The secret of her success is building relationships, she points out. She is a member of the Townsend Area Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Missouri Valley Marketing. She and her staff volunteer at various Townsend events.

Precision Business Resources office is located at 308 Broadway. Please see her ad in this paper or go to her website for more information.
